This week was a fun week as we began to understand the rules of the classroom, how our routines work, and getting back into that school year mindset. This past week we focused on The Creation and began to look more into the life of Noah and his family along with the flood. In reading, we went over some of our previous 1st-grade sight-words and began our 2nd grade rightwards, with the word "Always." In math, we worked on story problems and adding/subtracting 0 and 1. We have been learning so much this week while having fun getting back into our routine!
